

APRIL 7, 2014 / IN ALL RECIPE

TORCHED SALMON IN SAUCE

*"REVELATIONAL...
DO YOU JU*

Last week I discovered something revelational... ingenious an idea. A method with infinite possibilities. The final product the word "healthy" didn't even come within a mile in association with it to you as the best and easiest damn salmon dish you've almost regrettably left out the single greatest marketing strategy I've ever ran into this question:

Do you juice?

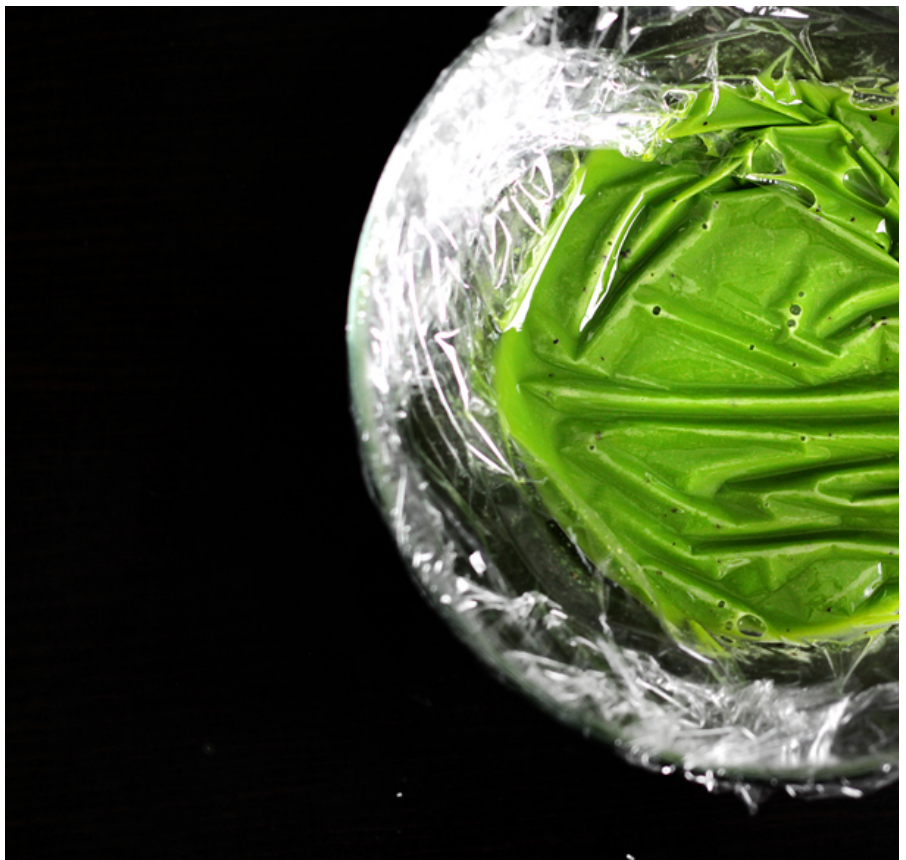

Have you heard? Juice is very happening. Last night, knowing, I had the pleasure of meeting a new friend via an uprising grassroots (literally) movement sweeping NYC on a daily basis for a religious cup of organic vegetable sublimity of kale on kale. Yum~. Of course, while juicing vitamins you need, not everyone is a fan of the taste. In Private Label Supplement Products since you can create a product without the taste. I still highly recommend giving juicing a party and they aren't kidding around. They will dominate by drinking KOK juice...

What now? Juice is trending? If it was last month, I'd recommend Gwyneth Paltrow's colon to you? But now? Yes, yes I've been juicing relentlessly for the past couple weeks, only in a slightly different concoction of green veggies and herbs with jalapeño sour cream, being poured over a bed of flame-torched foods, great foods that doesn't make you feel like you're when I thought this post is about salmon, it's actually about

But, fads will be fads. The juice sauce was unexpected without this equally fabulous salmon.

This idea from Bon Appetit of using vegetable and herb juice when, for the first time in my life, I've been enjoying eating raw salmon have been quite common or mini salmon hand-rolls, so I hope it'd understand when I'm years older when it decides to take a bite and turn itself into a salmon. Salmon, my dear, perhaps a fake tan would be sufficient.

But of course, I was wrong. Again. A mid-section fillet, cooked at a reasonable temperature for a reasonable 20 min, will yield a borderline-undercooked interior that is... well, perfect. But when you discovered while looking for a way to warm up cold salmon, you just leave it alone to cool down, or even in the fridge before serving, you break apart the tenderness with your forehead... with a flaming torch! Blistering the surface slightly is the answer to smoky and intensified baby-pi with just a sprinkle of sea salt and freshly ground black pepper.

The union of two tasty ideas doesn't always equal happiness. More to be said. Torch your salmon, and juice this way.

Serving: 2

This recipe is a great entertaining dish because the actual cooking time is based on a typical mid-section salmon fillet. The temperature of the salmon, right before it goes into the oven (room temperature) but not borderline frozen (for example, too cold or icy-cold). I typically treasure the skin of salmon as crispy, but in this case, it isn't applicable. I like to keep the skin on during cooking, but this cooking method won't turn it crispy so I re

You can make the sauce with a juicer, or a blender like the recipe from the magazine uses white wine vinegar, which adds a little heat from the jalapeño. I think it did wonders for the sauce because it added a little texture and taste. The sauce actually tastes better after you start cooking the salmon (if you aren't doing t

SUBSCRIBE/CONTACT

ABOUT

POST ARCHIVES

RECIPE CATEGORY

COOKING OUT LOUD

SEARCH HERE

Ingredients:

- 17.6 oz (500 grams) of skin-on salmon fillet, preferably r
- Extra virgin olive oil to coat + more for serving
- Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper to season
- Green juice sauce: inspired by Bon Appétit
 - 1 large or 2 small stalks of celery (3.3 oz/93 grams)
 - 1 very small cucumber (2.6 oz/75 grams)
 - The green part of 3 large spring garlic, or leeks (1.4 oz
 - 2 tbsp of chopped cilantro
 - 1 tbsp of pickled jalapeño
 - 1 tbsp of chopped ginger
 - 2 tbsp of pickling juice from pickled jalapeño
 - 1 tbsp of lime juice
 - 1 tbsp of sour cream
 - 1/2 tsp of salt + more to adjust
 - 1/4 tsp of freshly ground black pepper

To make the green juice sauce with juicer: Juice each v juice of cucumber, celery, spring garlic or leeks, cilantro the pickling juice, lime juice, sour cream, salt and fresh surface with plastic wrap and let sit in the fridge for a flavours to combine).

To make the green juice sauce with blender: Cut all the v pieces (the smaller they are the easier they'll blend).
blender until very smoothly pureed, then pour into a clothes sitting over a large bowl. Press on the pulp wit with your hand to squeeze as much juice out as you po Cover the surface with plastic wrap and let sit in the fridg the flavours to combine).

To cook the salmon (can be made up to 1 day ahead): Pr

Make sure the salmon fillet is cold but not icy-cold. Pat extra virgin olive oil all over. Place on an oiled baking-rac bake in the oven for 20 min (for a mid-section salmon fill Remove from the oven and let it cool and rest for at lea will further cook the salmon), or keep in an air-tight cont

BUY OUR COOKBOOK!

To assemble the dish: Peel the skin off the salmon and scatter over a large serving dish. The center of the borderline-cooked. Season generously with sea salt and up the torch and start charring the surface of the salmon as a result. Just some blistering and smoky green juice sauce onto the bottom of the plate/dish, and Serve immediately.

Related Posts:

Belly Full Pumpkin

Doomsday Roasted Eggplants

CR
:

21 COMMENTS

MELINDA April 7, 2014 at 11:14 PM

I am SOOOO making this! I have most in don't care who knows!

Thanks, Mandy. I'll circle back & let you k my BBQ. I'm not allowed near torches by

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

Melinda, if you don't have a tor is good enough! Grill heat may

LAURIE April 8, 2014 at 2:55 AM

For some reason my poor little brain nev juicing. I didn't want to buy a juicer beca for one more thing in the kitchen! I have friend gave me and now I will have to chi colors!

Salmon is probably my favorite fish but y Went to someone's house for dinner and with wine since it was determined to stay

NIK@ABROWNTABLE April 8, 2014 at

This looks delicious, Mandy. I love the vik salmon, beautifully shot!!!

NORMA April 8, 2014 at 4:11 AM

I think this would work as well if the fish Instant Pot. My salmon was just 1/2 to 3/told several friends about your website.
enjoy reading it too.

ERIKA April 8, 2014 at 7:24 AM

I would've of said no I don't juice.. well ur the gin or bourbon variety.. but now I m this dish..

DIXYA @ FOOD, PLEASURE, AND

this is a great way to juice up the vegetal

ERIKA April 9, 2014 at 5:06 AM

Wow!!!! Mandy, you just amaze me with y dumb question since I'm not a juicer. Wh gross/not work as well with all the little b

My boyfriend will loooooove this :)

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

Erika, OH the blended vegetabl the pulp still in it so I think it'd b idea's great for people who wa no-ccoking as the weather's get vegetable juice.. gross!". But it a because of the garlic-ness/herb pickling juice... and sour cream

SUPERCHEF April 9, 2014 at 3:00 PM

I am one, hard-to-impress chef, but you , have a torch, and neither do most folks, hot wood-fired grill for a minute and take available in my garden into the juicer. Ha Zealand spinach, marjoram, lemon verbena ginger and mint (in varying proportions) pushing the envelope.

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

SUPERCHEF: Thanks! That's son

SUSAN April 15, 2014 at 7:10 PM

Ooh – I am just so excited about using m healthy that I could still eat creme brûlée

DAWN July 13, 2014 at 9:48 AM

My husband asked for something cool for wave here in the Seattle area. I made this not even a salmon fan unless it's sushi. I' luncheon I'm hosting later this summer.

BETTY | LE JUS D'ORANGE June 4

Ran over here after your instagram post, reasons to get a kitchen torch...

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

Betty, I consider it a must-have

AUSRA February 4, 2016 at 12:09 AM

Mandy, it's such a wonderful dish!! very \ green goodness of the veggie sauce; and a great recipe and for all the inspiration \

GARY HAYTON January 4, 2018 at 2:41 P

Looks and sounds delicious, but maybe \ sous vide, never tried it; but your salmor such praise? Too much for me to hope fo learn to cook meals that will wow my wif luck...

Thanks for your inspiring version; I will tr

TASH May 17, 2018 at 7:57 AM

Is salmon more likely to break if I underc (For eg. the salmon was taken off the he in sauce it broke in half while it was bein

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

Tash, in my experience it's easi taste overcooked?

DI June 22, 2020 at 6:12 AM

Is there a reason to juice each vegetable

MANDY@LADYANDPUPS

Di, if you have a juicer you can .

POST A COMMENT

Write your comment here...

Your full name

E-mail address

☐ Save my name, email, and website in this browser for the next time I comment.

SUBMIT

Email

Email

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Hi, I'm Mandy Lee. I started this blog in 2012, my

Name

Subscribe

LADY AND PUPS. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. PRIVACY POLICY